A: Changes at work make you feel uneasy. Relax. It's a worker's market, not an employer's. They need to make things worth your while and not the other way around.

B: You put the needs of the many above the needs of you. Today's Mars/Uranus opposition says it's time to reverse the equation.

C: Someone's having a hard time keeping up their part of the bargain. Talk about what's going on before this person ends up costing you more.

D: Tying up loose ends is the order of the day – even if you know that things will only come undone again.

E: People in your life are being insensitive and demanding. Say something. You have a thick skin but it's not that thick.

F: You know you can't win so you might as well tell loved ones where you stand. They won't like what they hear, but it beats walking around on eggshells.

G: You thought things were headed in one direction but the Mars/Uranus opposition shows it's headed in another. You're going to have to race to keep up.

H: Sometimes something not coming through at the time that you want it to can be a blessing in disguise.

I: You tried doing things the other person's way but it just didn't work. It's time to take back the reins.

J: It looks like you're financially beholden to someone and will be for the foreseeable future. You might want to get on this person's good side ASAP.

K: Follow the lead of all the king's men. If a situation has a great fall and can't be put back together again then leave it alone. You've been through this too many times.

L: Someone you didn't think of in that way clearly sees things differently. It's a misunderstanding, but not the worst kind. Don't be in such a hurry to clear it up.

D: You hate badgering people about money, but don't ask when you can expect to see a check. Ask when you can drop by to pick it up.

F: Opportunities materialize like an all-you-can-eat-buffet. But don't load up on the first round because you can always go back for more.

G: You won't lose your shirt if you refinance. If anything, you'll save it. Money management has come a long way since mattress stuffing.

H: You need to put old beliefs aside before you can embark on a new life path, but don't worry. Your beliefs won't mind.

I: You hate to leave things up in the air, but forcing a commitment when someone is ambivalent would only backfire. Give him space to work it out. He won't let you down.

J: Make sure a discount is still a discount because you may have accumulated hidden costs without knowing it.

K: A critic gets all huffy and puffy and tries to blow your house down. So let him. Your case is built on a solid foundation.

L: The problem isn't lean times when the Sun squares Jupiter; it's too much of a good thing. That said: how's your waistline looking?
